(XLIXth YEAR.) THE (No. 2437.)

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1793.

PARIS, July 2.

By a letter from Marſeilles, dated 26th June, we are informed, that the 32d ſection having been made acquainted with the decree by which the popular tribunal had been outlawed, had taken an oath to ſupport the ſaid tribunal. The adminiſtrators of Gironde, Gard and High-Alps, have ſworn unity with the ſections of Marſeilles, and communicated to them the meaſures which their different departments had taken.

The royaliſts had not made any movements ſince their action with general Weſterman. The priſoners taken at Parthenay have been ſent to Niort. There is no news from the army in Tours, nor has it quitted its ſtate of inaction.

Laſt Tueſday all the municipal officers, dreſſed in their official ſcarfs, having copied into the records of the council-general the laws relative to the new conſtitution, repaired in proceſſion to all the ſections of the capital to proclaim the opening of the primary aſſemblies, and to preſent the new conſtitution to the people.

Henriot has obtained a deciſive majority of votes, and is returned provisional commandant-general of the Pariſian national forces.

LONDON, July 15.

The primary aſſemblies are convened for the acceptance of the conſtitution, of which a variety of falſe copies and parodies have already made their appearance. The convention have therefore decreed pain of death againſt every printer and ſeller, who ſhall circulate any other copy but that emanated from the convention.

Preparations for making the next campaign are already determined on. The war-office has given notice, that as ſoon as the guards and other regiments, from which draughts have been made, ſhall be completed, new regiments will be raiſed, and they fortunately received a number of offers. They do not expect to get them, as heretofore, from the Highlands of Scotland. The wilderneſs, at the preſent day, is a manufacturing town.

NEW-YORK, September 17.

The Methodiſt congregation in this city have appointed Wedneſday next to be obſerved by them as a day peculiarly ſet apart for faſting and prayer, to implore the interpoſition of the Almighty in favour of the inhabitants of Philadelphia, and that he would be pleaſed to avert from this city a like dreadful calamity.

A Mr. Spier was removed from his lodgings in this city on Sunday laſt to Governor's iſland, where he died this morning. He arrived from Philadelphia laſt Thurſday, was ſeized with the fever on Friday; the doctors pronounced it the malignant putrid fever, and the event proved their opinion to be juſt.

Extract of a letter from Philadelphia, September 14.

"I ſtill keep my family here, as it is now impoſſible to remove them without great inconvenience, ſo that I believe they muſt take their chance. The upper end of Market-ſtreet, and the ſtreets contiguous, remain healthy. Indeed, in our neighbourhood there is nothing left to die, except ſome dogs, cats, houſekeepers, &c. ſo univerſal has been the flight. I do not think you need be under any apprehenſion of coming to town on account of the fever, as it has viſibly and greatly abated. Towards the middle of next week, I believe many hundreds will return."

PITTSBURGH, September 14.

An expreſs arrived in town on Tueſday laſt, from Philadelphia, with letters from the war-office, containing orders for lieutenant-colonel John Clark to join the army at head-quarters.

A Lexington (Kentucky) paper of Auguſt the 17th, ſays, that 1500 volunteers, under general Scott, are anxiouſly waiting for orders to march againſt the Indians, with our army.

Wedneſday evening laſt Mr. Willon returned to this place from the mouth of Detroit river, where he had been with the commiſſioners.—The terms offered by the commiſſioners to the Indians were, the running a new boundary line, including a conſiderable extent of country more than former treaties had given, paying them more goods than ever was given at any treaty at once, and allowing them a conſiderable ſum, payable in goods, yearly for ever. The Indians, however, ſpurned at this offer, and refuſed treating on any other terms than eſtabliſhing the Ohio as their boundary—but anſwered, if you give to the poor people who live on our ſide of the river, what you have propoſed to us, and a little out of the money it will take to conquer us, they will leave it.

When the meſſage was firſt ſent them inviting them to the treaty, they talked of the Allegany mountain as the boundary line between us and us, ſuppoſing, that we were ſo frightened at the defeat of our army, that we would gladly embrace any offer of peace.—Mr. Willon ſaw one of the Indians who firſt took, and two days after killed, a Mr. Carſon, mentioned in our paper of the ſixth of July laſt.—It was underſtood that about 1500 Indians were aſſembled at the Miami.

PHILADELPHIA, September 14.

Extract of a letter from London, dated July, 1793, to a friend here.

"In ſuch eſteem is Charles Fox held for his patriotic ſervices, that the moſt generous ſubſcription ever made for any man took place, laſt week, at the London Tavern, in order to relieve him in his preſent embarraſſed ſtate of finances; and, at the ſame time the greateſt delicacy uſed, that he might not be hurt in his feelings on the occaſion. Some ſubſcribed 3000l. and no man leſs than 100l. by which his debts were honourably diſcharged, an annuity of 3000l. per annum purchaſed for him, and a preſent made to him of 20,000l. to begin the world anew. A clear proof, that no nation is ſo generous in rewarding true virtue as the Engliſh nation."

SAVANNA, Auguſt 29.

On the 14th inſtant, a party of Indians (ſuppoſed to be ten in number) ſtole ſeven horſes from Colerain, in Camden county. Lieutenant M'Gillis, with ſeven men, went in queſt of the thieves; they got to the Burnt Fort, where they made a raft, on which the lieutenant and five of his men croſſed Settilla river at four o'clock in the afternoon; they followed the track of the Indians till night, and next morning, after marching two miles, came upon their camp; the ſavages on finding themſelves diſcovered ran off, leaving ſix of the horſes, (the other they had ſhot) their flaps, leggins, kettles, knives, tomahawks, &c. behind them. The ground where they had encamped was ſo bad and ſwampy as to render every attempt of lieutenant M'Gillis to come up with them fruitleſs, ſo that he was obliged to content himſelf with what he had got, and return home.

The brig Mehitable and Mary, Fernald, from Charleſton, arrived at Cowes the 7th of June laſt; ſhe was boarded on the 27th of May, by a French privateer ſhip of twenty-two guns, and a prize maſter put on board her to carry her to France, but a Liverpool privateer heaving in ſight the Frenchman quitted her. The ſhips Caroline, Hilton, and Eſſex, Green, are alſo arrived at Cowes from Charleſton.

The ſhip Alexander, from New-York, was brought to laſt Thurſday, between Charleſton and this port, by a Britiſh ſeventy-four gun ſhip. The officer ſent on board, behaved politely, and detained her but a ſhort time.

Captain Reily, of the brig Nancy, of Connecticut, from St. Domingo, which was taken by two Britiſh privateers, has recaptured his veſſel and carried her into Charleſton. The two prize-maſters and Britiſh ſeamen put on board her have been committed to gaol, to take their trial at the circuit court to be held in October, for certain acts of piracy committed on board ſaid brig.

ALEXANDRIA, September 14.

Abſtract of a letter from a gentleman in Columbia county, Georgia, to his friend in this town, dated July 27, 1793.

"We have been diſturbed by the Indians this ſummer. They have killed about twenty people. Six hundred volunteers offered to go to the Hint River Towns, and accordingly marched to the Omulgee, but under the command of ſome very unſoldier-like officers, who diſagreed among themſelves about forcing the fatigued ſoldiers into the river. Large parties of the ſoldiers, in conſequence of this diſſenſion among their officers, returned home, under M'Cluſky and others, who had no command, though more fit than thoſe who had, which left their generals under the diſagreeable neceſſity of returning home alſo, after running the ſtate and individuals to conſiderable expence and trouble."

GEORGE-TOWN, September 21.

On Wedneſday laſt one of the grandeſt MASONIC proceſſions took place, for the purpoſe of laying the corner ſtone of the Capitol of the United States, which, perhaps, ever was exhibited on the like important occaſion; it was in all probability much facilitated by an advertiſement which appeared many days before in ſeveral news-papers of this ſtate.

About 10 o'clock Lodge, No. 9, was viſited by that Congregation, ſo graceful to the Craft, Lodge, No. 22, of Virginia, with all their Officers and Regalia; and directly afterwards appeared on the ſouthern banks of the Grand River Patowmack, one of the fineſt companies of Volunteer Artillery that hath been lately ſeen; parading to receive the Preſident of the United States, who ſhortly came in ſight with his ſuite—to whom the Artillery paid their military honours, and his Excellency and ſuite croſſed the Patowmack, and was received in Maryland by the Officers and Brethren of No. 22, Virginia, and No. 9, Maryland, whom the Preſident headed, and preceded by a band of muſic; the rear brought up by the Alexandria Volunteer Artillery, with grand ſolemnity of march, proceeded to the Preſident's ſquare in the City of Waſhington; where they were met and ſainted, by No. 15, of the City of Waſhington, in all their elegant Badges and Cloathing, headed by Brother JOSEPH CLARK, R. W. G. M.——P. T. and conducted to a large Lodge, prepared for the purpoſe of their reception. After a ſhort ſpace of time, by the vigilance of Brother C. WORTHY STEPHENSON, Grand Marſhal, P. T. the Brotherhood and other bodies were diſpoſed in a ſecond order of proceſſion, which took place amidſt a brilliant crowd of ſpectators of both ſexes, according to the following arrangement, viz.

The Surveying Department of the City of Waſhington.
Mayor and Corporation of George-town.
Virginia Artillery.
Commiſſioners of the City of Waſhington, and their Attendants.
Stone Cutters. Mechanics.
Two Sword Bearers.
Maſons of the firſt degree.
Bibles, &c. on Grand Cuſhions.
Deacons with Staffs of Office.
Maſons of the 2d degree.
Stewards with wands.
Maſons of the 3d degree.
Wardens with Truncheons.
Secretaries with Tools of Office.
Pat Maſter with their Regalia.
Treaſurers with their Jewels.
Band of Muſic.
Lodge No. 22, of Virginia, diſpoſed in their own Order.
Corn, Wine and Oil.
Grand Maſter P. T. George Waſhington. Worſhipful Maſter; No. 22, Virginia.
Grand Sword Bearer.

The Proceſſion marched two abreaſt, in the greateſt ſolemn dignity, with muſic playing, drums beating, colours flying, and ſpectators rejoicing, from the Preſident's Square to the Capitol, in the City of Waſhington, where the Grand Marſhal ordered a halt, and directed each file in the proceſſion, to incline two ſteps, one to the right, and one to the left, and face each other, which formed an hollow oblong ſquare, through which the Grand Sword Bearer led the van, followed by the Grand Maſter P. T. on the left—the Preſident of the United States in the center, and the Worſhipful Maſter of No. 22, Virginia, on the right—all the other orders, that compoſed the proceſſion, advanced, in the reverſe of their order of march from the Preſident's Square to the ſouth-eaſt corner of the Capitol; and the Artillery filed off to a deſtined ground to diſplay their manœuvres and diſcharge their cannon. The Preſident of the United States, the Grand Maſter, P. T. and Worſhipful M. of No. 22, taking their ſtand to the eaſt of an huge ſtone; and all the Craft, forming a circle weſtward, ſtood a ſhort time in ſilent awful order;

The Artillery diſcharged a Volley.

The Grand Marſhal delivered the Commiſſioners a large Silver Plate, with an inſcription thereon, which the Commiſſioners ordered to be read, and was as follows:

This South-Eaſt Corner Stone, of the Capitol of the United States of America in the City of Waſhington, was laid on the 18th day of September, 1793, in the Thirteenth Year of American Independence, in the firſt year of the ſecond term of the Preſidency of George Waſhington, whoſe virtues in the civil adminiſtration of his country have been as conſpicuous and beneficial, as his Military valour and prudence have been uſeful in eſtabliſhing her liberties, and in the year of Maſonry 5793, by the Preſident of the United States, in concert with the Grand Lodge of Maryland, ſovereign Lodges under its juriſdiction, and Lodge No. 22, from Alexandria, Virginia.

THOMAS JOHNSON,
DAVID STUART,
DANIEL CARROLL, } Commiſſioners.
JOSEPH CLARK, R. W. G. M.—P. T.
JAMES HOBAN,
STEPHEN HALLATE, } Architects.
COLLEN WILLIAMSON, Mr. Maſon,
The Artillery diſcharged a Volley.

The Plate was then delivered to the Preſident, who, attended by the Grand Maſter, P. T. and three moſt Worſhipful Maſters, deſcended to the Cavazion trench—and depoſed the Plate, and laid on it the Corner Stone of the Capitol of the United States of America, on which was depoſed Corn, Wine and Oil, when the whole congregation joined in ſervential prayer, which was ſucceeded by Maſonic Chanting, Honours, and a volley from the Artillery.

The Preſident of the United States, and his attendant brethren, aſcended from the Cavazion to the eaſt of the corner ſtone; and there the Grand Maſter, T. T. elevated on a triple roſtrum, delivered an Oration ſuiting the occaſion, which was received with Brotherly Love and Commendation; at intervals during the delivery of the Oration, ſeveral vollies were diſcharged by the Artillery. The ceremony ended in prayer, Maſonic Chaunting, Honours, and a 15 Volley from the Artillery.

The whole company retired to an extenſive booth, where an ox of 500lbs. weight was barbacued, of which the company generally partook, with every abundance of other recreation. The feſtival concluded with fifteen ſucceſſive vollies from the artillery, whoſe military diſcipline and manœuvres merit every commendation.

Before dark the whole company departed, with joyful hopes of the production of their labour.

ANNAPOLIS, September 26.

At a meeting of the citizens of Annapolis, on Thurſday the 5th inſtant, the following addreſs was, by an unanimous vote, directed to be tranſmitted to the Preſident of the United States:—

SIR,

THE citizens of Annapolis conceive it their duty, at this time, to unite their voices with thoſe of their fellow-citizens in various parts of the United States; and they beg leave to aſſure you, that they are deeply and indelibly impreſſed with a ſenſe of the paternal vigilance, exalted wiſdom, and dignified firmneſs, manifeſted by your proclamation on the ſubject of neutrality.—It is their fixed determination to conduct themſelves agreeably to the principles therein expreſſed, and to exert their beſt endeavours to prevent any infringement of them by others.

They are at the ſame time perſuaded, that on the faithful obſervance of ſubſiſting treaties, according to their true intent and obvious conſtruction, the proſperity and honour of our country greatly depend. They cannot be unmindful of the important advantages derived from our generous allies, the citizens of France; and they doubt not, that throughout the United States, there prevails a diſpoſition on all proper occaſions to teſtify their gratitude and affection. But they never can conſent to the adoption of a conduct which would violate the rules of univerſal juſtice, exceed greatly the extent of our national engagements, and hazard the bleſſings we have acquired, without ſerving materially the cauſe of our friends.

They cannot but lament, that any diverſity of ſentiment whatever, relative to the conſtruction of a treaty, has taken place in America; but they do not believe, that a real difference of opinion on this ſubject will elſewhere prevail.—They reprobate the idea of the intervention of any foreign miniſter to correct ſuppoſed abuſes in our government. Every communication of ſuch a miniſter to them, or any of their fellow-citizens, unleſs through the regular conſtituted authority and every interference by ſuch a miniſter with the adminiſtration of our internal affairs, they deem not only repugnant to the uſage of nations, but derogatory to the dignity of a free and enlightened people.

Permit them further to declare, that they feel a ſublime gratification, in avowing their ſteady attachment to the man, whom Providence ſeems to have raiſed up for the ſalvation of their country, and to have preſerved as the favoured inſtrument for ſecuring to millions the ineſtimable bleſſings of liberty, independence and peace.

That the people of America may always duly prize theſe bleſſings; that they may always poſſeſs diſcernment to detect the varying arts of deluſion; and that you, Sir, may for ever be happy, is the ſincere and ardent wiſh of the citizens of Annapolis.

By order of the citizens of Annapolis, at a meeting held at the ſtadt-houſe, on Thurſday, September 5th, 1793.

A. C. HANSON, CHAIRMAN.

The Preſident having received the ſaid addreſs at Mount-Vernon, was pleaſed to return the following anſwer, enclоſed in a letter to the chairman:—

TO THE CITIZENS OF ANNAPOLIS.

FELLOW-CITIZENS,

CONSCIOUS of having had in view the intereſt and happineſs of the people of the United States, in the diſcharge of my public duties, and fully perſuaded that remaining in a ſtate of neutrality during the preſent conteſt between the powers of Europe, if not abſolutely neceſſary to theſe objects, would tend in a very conſiderable degree to promote them, I receive with infinite ſatisfaction teſtimonies from my countrymen, from various parts of the union, expreſſive of their approbation of a meaſure intended to advance the welfare of my fellow-citizens; and none have given me more pleaſure than that received from the citizens of Annapolis.

The preſent flouriſhing ſituation of our affairs, and the proſperity we enjoy, muſt be obvious to the good citizens of the United States; it remains therefore, for them to purſue ſuch a line of conduct as will enſure theſe bleſſings, by averting the calamities of a war.

The manner, gentlemen, in which you are pleaſed to expreſs yourſelves towards me perſonally, merits and receives my warmeſt gratitude; and it will always be my greateſt pride and happineſs to receive the approving voice of my fellow-citizens.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

"Departed this life, on Monday the 9th of this month, in the fifty-fifth year of her age, Mrs. MARY BEANES, wife of Mr. William Beanes, of Prince-George's county.—No perſon poſſeſſed more generally or more deſervedly the love and eſteem of her friends and acquaintances.—Attached to the duties and employments of a domeſtic ſtation, ſhe was exemplary in her conduct as a wife, mother, miſtreſs, and friend; and by her uniform behaviour in this life, and her charitable actions within the ſphere of her neighbourhood, ſhe ſecured the good will and affection of all to whom ſhe was known—who join with her afflicted relations in lamenting her loſs."

"Died on the 4th inſtant, at Princeton, in New-Jerſey, after a ſhort illneſs, FREDERICK STONE, only ſon of the late THOMAS STONE, Eſq; aged about 18 years.

"This young gentleman gave the fureſt proſpects of an exalted character. His ſpirit was ſtrongly and diſtinctly marked with an high ſenſe of honour, a love of truth and ſtrict integrity.—His warm heart overflowed with all the virtues that ſpring from generous ſympathy. He was bleſſed with a vivid imagination and ſurpriſing powers of thought. Fate has ſnatch'd from Nature's hand one of her nobleſt works."

JOURNAL

Of the OPERATIONS of the COMBINED ARMIES before VALENCIENNES.

Head-Quarters, Herin, July 1.

Yeſterday and all this day, the works of communication for the third parallel have been briſkly carried on by the ſappe. Four hundred and two fathoms have been completed in all, and during the ſame night a new battery was mounted, with its artillery. The fortreſs having kept up a conſiderable fire, and diſcharge of muſketry during theſe operations, our loſs has been greater than uſual; the returns of the different corps offering an eſtimate of 2 men killed and 22 wounded.

The new battery greatly commands the enemy's fire, and has a great effect upon their works. The field-maſter of artillery, count de Ferraris, praiſes highly the indefatigable activity and intelligence diſplayed by captains count Kegel and Suirtnick; as likewiſe of the ſecond lieutenant Haſſenger, of the bombardiers; theſe three officers having much contributed, by the direction of their fire, towards the advancement of the works.

Tueſday, July 2.

Laſt night the branches of communication for the third parallel were carried on with the utmoſt activity, and were puſhed 273 fathoms farther.

The fire was very violent on both ſides, and our batteries damaged much the counter-guard towards the Fauxbourg of Marly, the redoubt of St. Rock and La Lunette. Our bombs have again ſet fire to ſeveral houſes. In the preſent night we had 24 men killed, and 25 wounded. The firſt lieutenant of engineers, Krape, is among the latter, having had his left hand pierced with a ball.

During theſe 24 hours we loſt 7 men, and had 43 wounded, among whom is the ſecond lieutenant Divernitzki, of the regiment of Calemberg, who had his thigh ſhattered.

Count Ferraris praiſes count de Newland of Calemberg, M. Farbar, firſt lieutenant of Beaulieu, and Mr. Kern, of the regiment of Spleny; they ſhewed a great deal of zeal and activity in the continuation of the ſappe, and the troops, although expoſed to the moſt terrible fire, continued their works in the beſt poſſible order.

Wedneſday, July 3.

In the night before yeſterday, to this morning, the communication was advanced to the middle of the horn-work, and then from the moſt advanced works on the right before the counter guard, near the horn-work, to the third parallel, part of which had been commenced both on the right and left; the branches of communication were entirely finiſhed, and ſome ten inch mortars were placed in the angles of communication; the embraſures of the batteries were repaired, which the fire of the enemy had damaged.

During the whole night the enemy continued a heavy fire of muſketry from the covered way. Their cannon played at break of day, with great vivacity; but the fire from our two parallels anſwered them with vigour and effect, and our preaching batteries continually drove them from one work to another. The howitzers, a ricochet, and the cannon loaded with grape, greatly annoyed them upon the covered way, and finally ſilenced them.

Thurſday, July 4.

Laſt night the intermediary branches of communication were advanced facing the right, from the great horn-work to the third parallel, and the junction of this parallel itſelf was purſued by conjoint labours of ſix brigades of miners; M. Aballi, lieutenant of Spleny, and M. Heinemann, of Wallis, ſhewed great activity pending this operation.

During the whole night an inceſſant fire of muſketry was directed againſt us from the covered way, and at day-break, as ſoon as our rangers poſted behind the Gobions began to fire, the enemy's muſketry diſcontinued, but from that moment their cannonade became briſker.

Our loſs conſiſts of ſeven killed and thirty-ſix wounded, among theſe M. de Vieuland, captain of Calemberg, was ſhot through the ſhoulder, and M. Welfeling, lieutenant of Wartenſleben, had his leg ſhattered by the burſting of a bomb.

The enemy detached about three o'clock this morning a patrole of 150 men towards Hargnies and Tonqueville; as ſoon as they were diſcovered, a wing of the regiment of Cobourg and a company of Colloredo, ſupported by ſome chaſſeurs, advanced, attacked the enemy, and routed them, after having killed five of them. We had one chaſſeur wounded.

Friday, July 5.

The work of the entrenchments before Valenciennes, of which mention was made yeſterday, have been carried on laſt night, in a great meaſure with the ſappe volante, and with much vigour; its length is 304 fathoms, and its width from ſide to ſide feet. During this operation, M. Peretti, director of the ſappe, conducted himſelf with great intrepidity; and, in ſpite of the hotteſt fire from cannon, bombs and cartridges, not the leaſt interruption was given to the progreſs of the works. Our batteries, which the enemy had damaged, were repaired; but the third parallel could not be completed, becauſe our bombs, which had ſet fire to different parts of the city, diſtracted the workmen too much. At day break, the enemy began a dreadful fire, but our batteries from Hainault and an howitzer of ten inches, a ricochet, as alſo the battering mortars, battered with great effect the covert-way, and the redoubt of St. Rock. We had eight men killed, and forty-three wounded.

To-day, an hour before day-light, the enemy attacked with vigour the left wing of M. gen. count de Bellegarde, poſted near to Villerſpot, and puſhed it from Haye de Gomignies as far as Pramoy. Major Brouſvatzki took the reſolution of attacking the enemy with the reſerve, which advanced quickly, and obliged the enemy to retreat. The enemy attempted ſeveral time to give ſucceſs to their project; and ſupported by three battallions from Quenoy with ſix pieces of cannon, by favour of a very hot fire from Valenciennes, they made the greateſt efforts, and advanced a little, when our ſoldiers, animated by the example of their officers, fell upon them with fixed bayonets, broke them, and drove them back with loſs. We made ſeven priſoners.

The excellent diſpoſition made by the prince of Swartzenberg, and his intrepidity, contributed greatly to the ſucceſs of this action, in which M. Albert, firſt lieutenant of Deutſmeiſter, and lieutenant M. Oochevaty, diſtinguiſhed themſelves; the laſt was dangerouſly wounded.

Our poſts being all re-eſtabliſhed in their former ſtate, general Bellegarde reconnoitered the enemy's poſts near the Maiſon-Rouge, and drove in their picquets poſted near Gomignies. During this operation, the count Sinzendorff, captain of Mahony's Cuiraſſiers, ſaw the poſſibility of forcing the entrenchments which the enemy had thrown up before Maiſon-Rouge; he advanced towards, while M. Sivkowitz, captain of the Free corps of Servians, attacked in front. Theſe two officers ſucceeded in their enterpriſe, after having diſplayed equal prudence and bravery.

The count de Goltz, a Pruſſian major-general, engaged in a reconnoitring party beyond Bonvines, received a wound in the right thigh.

Saturday, July 6.

From yeſterday evening to this morning, we worked inceſſantly to extend the third parallel 139 fathoms, to perfect its communication, and to complete it. The enemy's fire continued hot yeſterday afternoon: a grenade which fell upon our bomb-magazine, No. 12, ſet fire to forty, with two caſks filled with cartridges, but this exploſion wounded no body. During the night, and a part of the day, the garriſon of Valenciennes was ſilent; it is probable that the vivacity of the fire of the batteries, a ricochet of the ſecond parallel upon the covert-way, and the mortars of ten inches, contributed to this ſilence.

During theſe twenty-four hours, our loſs is ſeven killed, and thirty-four wounded.

Sunday, July 7.

At this moment the greater part of the works are carried on under ground. We are employed in enlarging the third parallel, which is only about twenty toiſes diſtant from the ſummit of the covert-way, and interſects the glacis. Batteries of pederetos, bombs, and perdreaux, have been conſtructed, and have, in part, played with great effect.

By virtue of a writ of venditioni exponas, iſſued from the general court, to me directed, will be offered to PUBLIC SALE, for READY MONEY, on Friday the 4th day of October, at Mr. RICHARD LANHAM's tavern, between Piſcataway and Upper Marlborough,

Propofals,

FOR REPRINTING, by SUBSCRIPTION, That truly valuable FAMILY BOOK, ENTITLED,

BURKITT ON THE
New Teſtament.

AMONG the many excellent divines who have adorned that part of the chriſtian church commonly called "the Church of England," few have attained to ſo diſtinguiſhed a height of honour and uſefulneſs as the Rev. WILLIAM BURKITT, the learned and pious author of the above work —— Senſible that the New Teſtament contains a ſyſtem of the moſt perfect religion, kindly revealed to purify our hearts, to refine our paſſions, and by making us good here, to qualify us for eternal felicity hereafter; he anxiouſly deſired that all the world ſhould be made acquainted with and enjoy the ineſtimable bleſſings of this divine religion: But well knowing, that in the word as in the works of GOD, many things occur hard to be underſtood, he applied himſelf with the moſt affectionate ſolicitude to remove this difficulty. From abilities and piety like his, the church had every thing to hope.—His execution of that important work was equal to the moſt ſanguine expectations of the public. His expoſition of the ſacred volume, is ſo judicious, and at the ſame time ſo familiar and eaſy, that the inquirer after truth has but to conſult the paſſage that perplexes him, and he will immediately find, not only the light of truth irradiating his mind, but a glow of devotion kindling in his heart.—But, as the beſt evidence of the merit of this work, ſuffice it juſt to ſay, that it has already paſſed through nearly twenty editions in England, and the call for it is ſtill ſo great, that our infant country is annually drained of large ſums of money to ſupply the demand.

Conditions.

THIS valuable work will be printed in the ſize of a Family Bible, containing about 1100 pages Quarto, on a fair paper and large type, neatly bound, lettered, and fillected with gold, and delivered to ſubſcribers at ſix dollars, one third only to be paid on ſubſcribing, the reſt when the book (handſomely finiſhed) is delivered.

Notice.

WE intend to make application to the general aſſembly of this ſtate, at their next ſeſſion, for an act to repay us the tobacco, or the value thereof, which we have accounted for as executors of PETER DENT, deceaſed, and which was ſtolen or deſtroyed while the ſaid Peter Dent was inſpector at Pomonkey warehouſe, by being expoſed to the weather and otherwiſe.

ANNE DENT,
THEO. DENT.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the ſubſcriber intends to petition the general aſſembly of Maryland, at their next ſeſſion, for an act to releaſe him from debts which he is unable to pay.

PROPOSALS

to be entitled,

The MONTHLY MIRROR, and MARYLAND MUSEUM.

I. IT shall contain a pleasing variety of interesting and entertaining subjects calculated to improve as well as amuse the mind. The most approved selections from different authors, both ancient and modern, either of Europe or America, will form a part of this work; likewise, the newest improvements and discoveries that have or may be made, within the present century, in each art and science.

II. Extracts from various writers on Religion, Philosophy, Arts, Physic, and Divinity, shall also compose a part of this work.—A space will be assigned for the debates of congress—the debates of the British house of commons—a complete register of foreign and domestic news—essays—poetry—marriages—deaths, &c. &c.

III. Farmers, millers, and mechanics, shall be gratified with a particular description of such methods and machinery as are now in use among the most experienced in the above branches of business, in this country and in Europe.

IV. It shall comprise forty-eight octavo pages, neatly printed, and stitched in blue paper.—Price to subscribers Twenty Shillings per annum; others who purchase will have to pay Twenty-two Shillings and Six-pence, or a Quarter of a Dollar each number.

V. As soon as 400 subscribers are procured, this work shall be put to press, and a number delivered regularly in the first week of every month.* Eight pages will be assigned for ADVERTISEMENTS, which may be of peculiar advantage to the manufacturing and trading part of the community in every state in the union; as it is expected to meet with a general circulation throughout the continent, and serve as a vehicle of useful information and instruction to every citizen in the United States.

IT is needless to say much in favour of a publication of this nature.—The utility and convenience of a work of this kind must appear obvious to every person the least acquainted with polite literature, and a general knowledge of the world.—It will contribute towards the stock of necessary information, respecting mercantile affairs, manufactures, agriculture, and commerce; and is meant to convey pleasure as well as profit to those who shall patronise this work.—Readers, of every denomination, shall occasionally be furnished with sketches of real life, and the utmost exertions shall be made to render it as useful a publication as any ever attempted in this country.

Subscriptions are taken in by the publisher PHILIP EDWARDS, JAMES RICE, and AMBROSE CLARK, in Baltimore.

☞ The printers throughout the United States are earnestly requested to give these proposals a place in their news-papers, which will very much oblige their most obedient humble servant,

PHILIP EDWARDS.
